

Human Sciences Encounters in Phnom-Penh
Past Presentations

The western practice of therapeutic conversation in Cambodia

By Francois ALBEROLA

August 30, 2012, 6 pm

The working experience of a clinical psychologist in Cambodia gives us the opportunity to observe the uniqueness of a conversation: its relevance, its hesitation, its resistance... Willingness to change the present situation, resistance to change. How to communicate? Where to meet? How to listen? How to get along ? Finally, how to suggest patients to break away from their submissiveness and guide them towards peaceful mind ?